DISH Network Statement on SoftBank and CFIUS, dated May 23, 2013

DISH Statement on SoftBank and CFIUS

ENGLEWOOD, Colo.—(BUSINESS WIRE)— DISH Network Corporation (NASDAQ: DISH) responded to news reports regarding the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS) review of the proposed SoftBank-Sprint transaction.

“If the news reports are accurate, SoftBank’s agreement to an extraordinary board structure and the concerns of CFIUS with respect to the use of Chinese-manufactured equipment on a foreign-controlled Clearwire network, which reportedly could add as much as $1 billion to the cost of the proposed SoftBank-Sprint transaction, confirm the serious national security risks of SoftBank acquiring Sprint and its wireless and wireline assets of national strategic importance,” said Stanton Dodge, DISH executive vice president and general counsel.

“We remain concerned, however, that these reported steps do not adequately protect our national security interests, especially with respect to Sprint’s critical fiber backbone network and Sprint’s extensive contracts to provide important telecommunications services for government, law enforcement and defense customers,” said Dodge.
